

2023 NYSPA Annual Perinatal Partnership Conference

Hot Topics in the Perinatal and Infant Care Continuum: Integrating Evidence-based Practices with Cultural Humility

June 8 & 9, 2023
Hilton Hotel
40 Lodge Street
Albany, NY

The New York State Perinatal Association's Annual Perinatal Partnership Conference is the premier maternal and infant health professional education conference in New York State, traditionally drawing a wide range of health and human service providers and professionals. In line with the multi-disciplinary focus of NYSPA and our intention for cross-disciplinary collaboration and education, conference presenters and registrants include obstetricians, pediatricians, neonatal and maternal-fetal specialists, midwives, nurse practitioners, nurses, genetic counselors, social workers, mental health professionals, nutritionists, lactation consultants, public health, and community-based and social services professionals.

Call for Proposals

The NYSPA Conference Planning Committee invites proposals for plenary and workshop sessions, as well as abstracts for poster presentations for the 2023 conference. You are invited to submit a proposal for a plenary session (offering 5-7/1-1.25 hr. sessions, including Q & A), workshop (offering 8-12/1-hour workshops, including Q & A), and/or a poster display (posters will be displayed throughout the Conference – see guidelines below).

Benefits of Presenting at NYSPA 2023:

The New York State Perinatal Association is committed to supporting and promoting best and promising practices and programs to improve pregnancy and birth outcomes; women's, newborn, and infant health; and to advocating for the availability, quality, and competency of the full array of needed perinatal health services in New York State.

Presenting at and attending a NYSPA Conference provides you with opportunities to share your experience, training, and insight with other dedicated and experienced practitioners in the field of maternal-infant-child health. Engaging with your colleagues in honest and open discussions and networking across disciplines enhances your own practice as well as helping other professionals better serve their communities. Past members and speakers have commented that NYSPA has directly benefited their professional development, careers, and increased their power as change agents in their respective disciplines. By participating in NYSPA's annual conference you can BE PART OF A LARGER COMMUNITY and MAKE A POSITIVE DIFFERENCE in the lives of women, infants-children, couples, and families. (Please see list of additional benefits below).
